

RPD goes online with twitter!

The Rochester Police Department now has its very own Twitter account. The RPD will be maintaining the account and providing the community with up to date information regarding RPD activities and crime bulletins. We believe this is the next logical step in bringing the RPD to the technological forefront.

By utilizing Twitter, we can provide the community with instant access to wanted suspect descriptions and photos, so that they may assist us in making their neighborhoods safer. We will also be able to provide information about upcoming events the RPD may be hosting that are open to the community.
